

March Early Learning Newsletter

February was a short but busy month as we explored our “Feelings and Emotions”. Next month we will journey “Under the Sea” as we study ocean and sea life and understand the importance of protecting our waters. We will finish up Madonna School’s tournament of books - we have already had so much fun voting on our favorites! We are also preparing our hearts during this very special season of Lent.

Please note, that with the weather warming, we may have the opportunity to take our lessons outside and learn more about our natural world.

Reminders

In light of recent world-wide health concerns, we are continuing our diligence in hand washing and adhering to the “achoo!” policy. Thank you for your cooperation with this and for your contributions of wipes, tissues and hand soap for our classroom.

In preparation for many of your children transitioning to kindergarten next year, be mindful that classroom drop off is considered an “Independent Zone”. Please allow your child to be involved in their routines by saying your “good byes” before entering the classroom. Thank you for your cooperation.

As the weather becomes warmer, we will be spending more time with outdoor play. Please remember to dress your child accordingly and to send a replacement if clothes are sent home wet or muddy.

On a Personal Note...

It is with heavy hearts that we say “good bye” this month to our beloved Miss Kelly. She is leaving her current position in order to take advantage of a wonderful career opportunity. She is a magician of speech and language learning and deeply loved by staff, students and their families. Farewell, Miss Kelly and all the best in your future endeavors!
